

Influence Map

Elements of an Influence Diagram

Influence diagrams are used to map the main components of a situation or system and the important relationships that exist between them. May have different types of arrows to distinguish different types of influence.